

WHITEHEAD HAS A MODEL BILL

If Passed, Would Permit Cities To Be Ruled By Commissions Especially Elected.

WAS PRESENTED THIS AFTERNOON

Has Special Provisions For The Cities Of The State Which Desire To Change Their Present Mode Of Government.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 24.—The form of the bill of the senate today was the introduction through the revision committee of a bill by Senator Whitehead permitting cities to adopt the commission form of government. Similar measures have been introduced in nine different states of the Union during the past few years.

Twenty Sections.
Twenty new sections are added to the statutes detailing the plan for the government in all classes of cities. Under a petition of twenty-five per cent of the voters cast for all candidates for mayor at the preceding municipal election, the mayor of the city must issue a proclamation submitting to the vote of the people the question of the adoption of a commission plan of municipal government. If the people disapprove of the plan by a vote the question cannot be again submitted for a year.

Up To Voters.
If it is decided to change the form of government the mayor shall secure a petition from the secretary of state and submit the question of electing a mayor and four councilmen to the people. All of the ordinances of a city not inconsistent with the commission form shall remain in effect until repealed. The boundaries of the city shall also remain the same, unless changed subsequently.

In April.
The mayor and four councilmen shall be elected on the first Tuesday in April. If a vacancy occurs during the term of any of the members the other members shall fill the vacancy. All members are elected for terms of two years. Two weeks prior to the holding of the spring election a primary election shall be held and the two candidates for mayor and the eight candidates for councilmen receiving the highest number of votes shall have their names placed on the general election ballot.

The Arrangement.

GAY SEASON AT AN END IN NEW YORK

Ash Wednesday ushers in a period of quiet after a brilliant winter, socially.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Feb. 24.—Today, Ash Wednesday, ushers in a period of quiet after a brilliant winter, socially. The close of one of the most brilliant social seasons New York has ever known. Since the very beginning of the winter it would seem as if Gotham society had had one continuous holiday, with debuts and weddings, dinners and dances, to say nothing of a double-barreled season of grand opera.

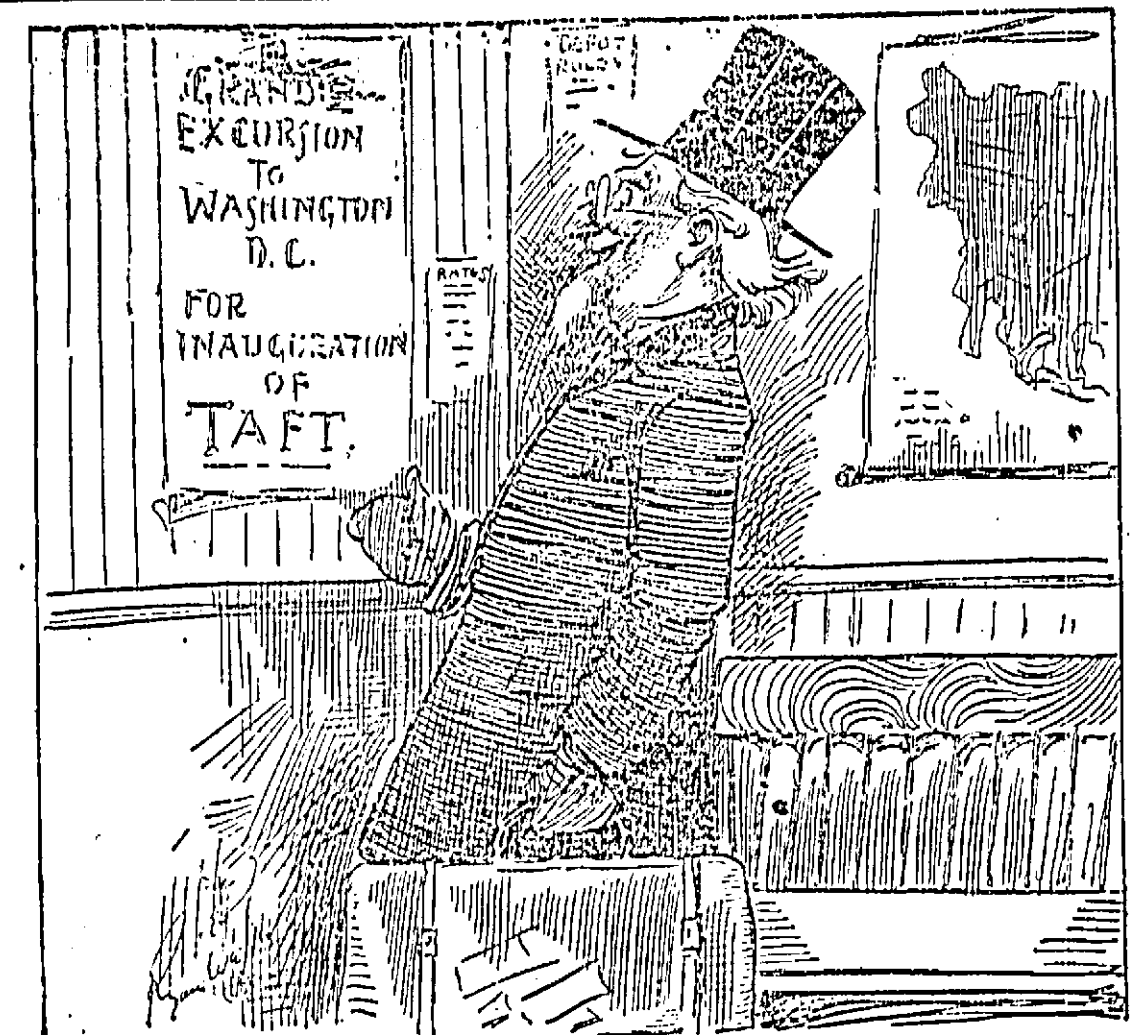

And now for forty days there is to be a season of fasting and prayer—with only bridge and gay weekend parties at Lakewood and other fashionable suburban resorts to break the monotony. Seriously speaking, however, New Yorkers are given to a stricter observance of Lent than is generally supposed. Whether or not they employ the time for special devotion to the duties of the Christian life, it is certain that for the time being they abstain from the ordinary social pleasures, as the playhouse managers and the proprietors of the fashionable restaurants can testify.

MAKES SLASHES IN PRINTING SCHEDULE WITH COMPOSURE

Less Volumes Will Be Furnished to the Public This Year Than Last.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 24.—Some big slashes were made in the number of printed volumes to be put out by state departments during the coming year, at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the joint committee on printing and claims. Answering the call of the combined committees appeared and with few exceptions they admitted that there was no need for thousands of copies of reports now printed under legal requirements. All along the line Chairman George B. Hurdall made annotations of cuts to be made and when the committee gets through with its work it is probable that the expense to the state will be decreased materially. One instance of what may be done in reducing the cost of state printing was offered by the Wisconsin State Dairymen's association which has been issuing 4,000 copies of its annual report. It was decided and admitted that 1,200 would answer the purpose, so, with considerable change, only 1,200 instead of 4,000 of the reports will go out. Another instance was furnished by the agricultural experiment station. It has been getting 15,000 copies of its annual report, 2,000 of them being bound in cloth. Hereafter only the 2,000 in cloth will be printed. The number will answer the purpose, it was admitted.

Secretary John M. True of the state board of agriculture, said he could not cut down the association's number of reports. Five thousand of these reports are printed annually and hundreds of them go to every state of the union and even to libraries in many other countries. Mr. True said he could not see the advisability of cutting down the number and the committee agreed with him.

The joint body will continue its sessions until all departments have been heard and then will go about the work of proposing amendments and create a system of intelligent supervision of all reports.

INVESTIGATION BREAKS UP IN A ROW OVER WHAT SHALL BE INVESTIGATED

Cost Eight Hundred Dollars To Organize Rock County In Stephenson's Interests According To Figures Filed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 24.—The vote on United States Senator this noon gave Stephenson 50, being also short of election. 128 votes were cast.
The United States Senatorial campaign expense investigation was practically suspended today on account of a quarrel among the investigators over the expediency and propriety of tracing money to the individuals to whom it was paid.
The assembly members protested this would injure innocent parties. It

Il. Shackett, the Stephenson campaign clerk, filed a statement showing the sums spent in organizing the different committees.
His testimony regarding the getting of the money was largely a repetition of the story told by Barker Puelicher. He said he received no help from Stephenson or the latter's attorneys in making up his report.
Mr. Shackett's statement shows that the Stephenson organization in Rock County cost $800, paid in three checks of $100, $100 and $600.

CATHOLIC'S BAZAAR
VERY SUCCESSFUL

Fair and Dance of Evansville Society
Brought in About Four Hundred Dollars.
(Special to THE GAZETTE.)
Evansville, Feb. 23.—The bazaar
and dance given by the Catholic Society was like all former efforts, a grand success, and the net proceeds were about four hundred dollars. The varied display of fancy goods drew a large crowd, and hundreds of people went without making a purchase. All eyes turned to the candy booth which contained the largest and finest display of home-made candy ever seen at a bazaar in Evansville, and the ladies here bought "dollars' worth of this delicious product. Everyone enjoyed the fine entertainment given by the Catholic Society of Janesville. Both the bazaar and dance were very large and attracted many being here from Janesville, Albion, Brooklyn, Oregon,
Janesville, Albion and other nearby points. There were one hundred and eighty-three numbers sold for the dance and all available space in the opera-house was filled with those who came just to look on and all had a good time. It is not yet two hours since the new Catholic church was dedicated and the people of Janesville and vicinity take pleasure in assisting this church in every way they can, for nowhere is there to be found a society who are more grateful and appreciative than our friends of St.
Paul's church.

The Washington Methodist social club at the home of Mrs. A. Enger last evening was one of the most enjoyable occasions which has been given in Evansville church circles. There were fully seventy-five in attendance and the program and various games were very interesting. The Misses Mattilda Woods and Mildred Leggo assisted in entertaining and were dressed in costumes of colonial days. The Misses Anna Stevens and Lou Howard favored the company with some very fine piano music and Miss Dorelle Goodhue rendered pleasing vocal solos. The decorations were very appropriate to the day, as were the dainty refreshments which Van Patter and Stella Jones served.
Mrs. E. J. Ballard and Mrs. J. W. Jones
were used as the favors.

Irma Fisher of Janesville was a visitor
in Evansville today.

was wedded at Arbor Vitae, Wis., on

had been at 22 Indiana Terrace, Chicago, she had established her eccle-

LIKE A KNELL OF LODGE INSURANCE

That is the way provisions of New
"Uniform Bill" of Sound to Local
Members of the M. W. A.

Local members of the Modern Woodmen order are signing a petition of protest against the passage of the so-called "Uniform bill" which is before the Wisconsin legislature as well as the law-making bodies in nearly every other state. The measure provides a minimum rate at which insurance can be issued by the fraternal societies and it enacted into law it is said that the Woodmen rates would have to be increased threefold. It also provides that thirteen assessments shall be made each year, whereas the Woodmen have been levying an average of eight. It is claimed that the proposed new rates are so much higher than the old ones that it would be almost impossible for the older members to keep up their insurance. It is probable that the other fraternal insurance societies will also be enticed in the effort to have the bill de-fected.

EXAMINATION OF EDWARD H. BOWER

In Madison Yesterday Brought to Light Some Interesting Facts Regarding His Several "Affinities."

Edward Henry Bower, who was arrested in company with Mrs. Adelle Tate at the Park hotel in this city on the night of April 13, 1908; who paid
a fine and costs amounting to $207.20
on April 16 of that year; and who was again arrested at the College Inn restaurant which he had been managing in Madison on Feb. 14, last, appeared in the municipal court at the Capital City yesterday for his preliminary hearing. The hearing was not held until 10 o'clock.

When the case was called District Attorney Nelson asked to have the original complaint dismissed on the ground that the marriage to wife No. 1 (Clara Schmidt, who came to Janesville with Bower) was contracted within a year after her divorce from Arthur Donovan and the attorney at once brought a new complaint charging an crime with Clara Schmidt, the unmarried person. Myrtle Eaton, Bower's former wife, was called to the stand and testified that she was Bower's wife
when he was indicted for the crime with Clara Schmidt, and that she became a third party in the case, and there is a rumor that she has suddenly left the "Town of Terrible Floods" for parts unknown. Bower pleaded "not guilty" to this charge
which simply substitutes Clara Schmidt for Myrtle Eaton as the person with whom the crime is alleged to have been committed.

Attorney H. H. Morgan took the stand and gave testimony regarding his visit to the rooms over the College Inn on State street to collect accounts held under chattel mortgages. Bower told him the woman he found there was his wife and when required to show the chattel mortgages
she wrote "Myrtle Bower."

The principal witness was "Mrs."
Clara Schmidt, who testified that she married Bower in Chicago because she wanted to, and "became his legal wife." But she didn't like him any more, she added. Prior to that she had lived all her life in Milwaukee. The marriage ceremony was performed by a justice in a Chicago hotel. She never knew the name of the hotel, nor of the justice, nor witnesses. She saw the justice hand Bower a document which she assumed was the marriage certificate, but she never had a chance to examine it.
They left the city at once and went to Janesville. Last July, she said, Bower came to Madison and she went, Milwaukee.

"I have always passed as his wife
since we were married," she said.
"I never doubted the relation. I came to Madison Nov. 7 last, when I heard there was another Mrs. Bower.
I thought that he wrote me that he wasn't getting a home for me. I had heard of "Myrtle" and saw her at the restaurant here. I saw Myrtle Eaton there too and told her I was Mrs. Bower. I went upstairs and saw Myrtle and Mr. Bower dressing to go to the play. Then Mr. Bower struck me."

On the occasion of this visit to Madison, she said, they engaged rooms
at the Simon hotel, where registering as "Mrs. Frederick Milwaukee," according to Bower's advice. Attorney Nelson, counsel for the defendant, tried to draw from the witness an

PRIZE FOOD.
Palatable, Economical, Nourishing.

A Noble woman has outlined the prize food in a few words, and that from personal experience. She writes
"After our long experience with Grape-Nuts, I cannot say enough in its favor. We have used this food almost continually for seven years.

"We sometimes tried other advertised breakfast foods but we invariably returned to Grape-Nuts as the most palatable, economical and nourishing of all.

"When I quit tea and coffee and began to use Grape-Nuts and Grape-Nuts,
I was a nervous wreck. I was so irritable I could not sleep nights, had no interest in life.

"After using Grape-Nuts a short time
I began to improve and all these ill-ments have disappeared and now I am a well woman. My two children have been almost raised on Grape-Nuts,
which they eat three times a day.

"They are pictures of health and have never had the least symptom of stomach trouble, even though the most severe stage of whooping cough
they could retain Grape-Nuts when all else failed.

"Grape-Nuts food has saved doctor bills, and has been, therefore, a most economical food for us."

scribes the experiments made by scientists, which show, with the exact-ness of mathematics, the effects of alcohol on human activities; A. J.
Conant, the artist, tells of his experiences in painting a portrait of Lincoln; T. R. MacClellan describes the country where Roosevelt will hunt in South Africa, and James L. Ford contributes a paper on "One National Stage." Mrs. Humphrey Ward's great novel, "Marriage a la Mode" is continued, and the number contains the following short stories: "Bill Stein-feld's Hunting," by Eleanor Stuart;
"The Reformation of Jack Ketch," by James Hopper; "Mrs. Sweeney's Conscience," by Charles H. Barnes; "The Vacant Room," by Hocking Ball;
"Turner," "The Strength of the Law,"
by F. J. Lourel, and "The Reckoning," by Robert Lowmeyer Black.

Crime and the Telephone.

From the beginning to the end of a transaction in crime the telephone comes into use serving both sides with equal fidelity, says a writer in the March Appleton's. "The thief uses it to determine which house he may safely rob. The man next door sees the burglar arrive, catches the burglar and telephone for the black Maria to take him to jail. The thief telephones a lawyer to defend him. The lawyer telephones for the bondsman to bail out his client, and the bondsman telephones the sheriff that the burglar's check is good.

When the day of trial comes, the clerk of the court, the clerk of the court, being a kind gentleman, telephones to the burglar's lawyer to be present. When the burglar is convicted and sentenced the sheriff uses long telephone to tell the warden of the penitentiary when his prisoner will be delivered. After that the telephone line is kept hot by industrial politicians petitioning the governor for a pardon.

That most interesting and unique of all magazines—The Wide World—contains this month an astonishing amount of attractive material gathered from all the quarters of the globe. To travelers no less than to those who are unable to leave their homes, The Wide World has become a necessary. It contains information about out-of-the-way places, customs, and people which are to be found in no other magazine. Among the contents of the March issue are many articles of a thrilling nature which cannot be stir the blood and brighten the eyes.
There is an amazingly realistic description of a fight to the death between a white and a black striking negro and a most interesting account of a most interesting mother-eagle fight with an infuriated mother-eagle.
But it is perhaps in its descriptions of the peculiar customs of other nations that The Wide World is particularly valuable and to the average reader—traveling. How many folks who never travel—and those who do travel, for the matter of that—are aware that up in the mountains of Switzerland the women wear their garb
and do most of the work of their menfolk who stay at home and smoke or mind the babies, while their husbans
and daughters toil in the hayfields or among the live stock? We venture to say very few, and therefore Miss Van der Voer's description of a visit to this strange and interesting country should prove the more interesting. Again, one does not usually think of England as being a dangerous country, but the "Mountain Tragedy of the Lake District" which we learn with some astonishment of the numerous climbing fatalities which have occurred in the loveliest country of England. The Burrows describes the account of the "Experiences in Algeria" while H. C. Chausson-Mavens writes of those strange and little-known people—the Lapps. An intensely interesting article, written by a native of Auckland,
tells of the endless "amusements"
of the old Maori law of "tani" (meaning, forbidden, prohibited) and the predicaments in which Europeans

coming under its influence occasionally find themselves. A. Pleatone-knows writes very charmingly of
"The Fiches Festival" or the "Bird-Shooting Competitions of Flanders." These curious festivals are held annually and the owners of the songsters that make the greatest number of "trills" in as pecked time are awarded substantial money prizes.
There are many other articles and stories equally interesting, while the "Odds and Ends," which have become a feature of this magazine, are an attractive as over.

A NEW ARCADIA.

A Complete Working Outfit for "Nature and Science" Boys and Girls.

For ten years the department of Nature and Science in St. Nicholas has been, under the direction of Edward F. Higgelow, of Stamford, Conn., an important educational feature of the magazine. It has been a most interesting and profitable nature from the standpoint of the child; and to this end the editor has had the cooperation of nearly all the best naturalists, scientists and nature artists in the country.

Now Nature and Science is to have a complete working outfit covering more than half an acre of ground at Stamford, Conn. This outfit and its arrangement originated wholly with a wealthy philanthropist and lover of children, who has watched for some time "on the quiet" the work of the department, studied the correspondence with the children—some of them in foreign countries—invested all the requirements, and without the suggestion of any one other than his architect, is to supply a series of convenient, portable buildings in which the various departments of the work will be carried on systematically.

There will be separate buildings for offices, museum, (for instruction of appliance), laboratories, a lecture hall for talks to visitors and for regular instruction to local young folks, astronomical observatory, photograph gallery, greenhouse, vivaria, insectary, pet houses, etc. Viewed from a balcony the outfit will seem like "a series of playhouses with a fence around them." In their cuteness, they surely will appeal to the fancy of the young folks.

And yet in their roominess and thorough equipment they will be ample for all the work of Nature and Science. The little village of buildings in courtyard style is to be known as Arcadia—that is, the home of pleasure and contentment in all nature.

Curious Trait.

almost nothing on the stage so that they may appear in fine clothes off
the stage.

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.

Scheme for Organization to Promote Public Improvements.

How far the individual is responsible for an unkempt, weed grown village or town is told by a writer in the Los Angeles Times, who says: "Every resident of these towns at the best places is to be blamed for the slovenly appearance of the community in general unless he has done all in his power to better these deplorable conditions, first, by tidying up his own premises and, secondly, by endeavoring to enlist the co-operation of all his fellow citizens in a general cleanup movement. Get a few people interested and have a committee call a public meeting, made attractive by a spy program, have the entertainment most close with a brief, pointed talk on the need and benefits of an improvement society. Provide a constitution something like the following and urge all to join before leaving the room:

First.—This organization shall be called the Improvement association.

Second.—The objects of the association shall be to cultivate public sentiment in favor of improving and beautifying the homes, streets and surroundings of — and to endeavor to promote in every locality the best development of the whole community.

Third.—The objects of — shall constitute membership during the then current year of the association.

Fourth.—A board of directors of three from each ward shall be elected by ballot at a public meeting and at such interval thereafter. They shall constitute an executive committee, who shall have the general control and management of the affairs of the association. They shall elect by ballot a president, three vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, and the appointment of all committees by the president shall be subject to their approval. The president, secretary and treasurer shall be ex officio members of the board of directors.

Fifth.—No dues shall be collected by the board of directors beyond the amount of available means within their control, and no member of the association shall be liable for any debt of the association beyond the amount of his or her subscription.

Sixth.—This action specifies the date of the annual meeting, rules for called meetings and of quorums.

Seventh.—This constitution may be amended at any meeting of the association, provided said amendments be included in the published call for the meeting.

Do not attempt too much simply because you get a goodly membership list. You will not find all willing workers or workers at all. Begin modestly, and when the members have been well tried you will know just how many live, public spirited citizens you have to depend upon for active support. Do not scatter your work, but thoroughly finish each job as you undertake it, so that no complaint may justly be made as to the permanent value of the task accomplished. Real estate values will soon increase, and when it is seen that the material interests of all may be benefited you will find a goodly number of zealous workers. Almost before you are under full steam the town will begin to grow and your harvest is at hand.

TORNADO KILLS 13 IN ARKANSAS

Fisher, Ark., Devastated by a Windstorm.

INDIANA HOUSES WRECKED

Cyclone Near Evansville Damages Farm Buildings—Kentucky Has Heaviest Rains in Years—Government Issues Warning.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 24.—Lonsoke, Prairie, Woodruff and Polkett counties in southeastern Arkansas were swept by a cyclone yesterday and 13 persons were killed. Many others were injured. Fisher was almost completely wrecked. The damage to property is many thousands of dollars.

In Lonsoke county the dead are Leslie Gannell, aged seven years; near Augusta, Woodruff county, Bob Pratt and wife, Bonnie Seat and wife, Thelma Epps; unidentified negro.

At Fisher, Polkett county, J. S. Doss, Wade Frazier, Mrs. Stone; two men and a child unidentified.

Because of the interruption of wire communication with the storm-swept territory, only the most meager information was available. At Fisher, a town of 400 inhabitants, it is reported that but two buildings remain standing and that many injured are imprisoned among the wreckage of the razed buildings.

A relief train with physicians and nurses left Brinkley late in the afternoon for that point.

Indiana Farm Houses Wrecked.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 24.—Houses were unroofed, barns demolished and livestock killed in a cyclone which swept over Center township, four miles north of Evansville, yesterday. The cyclone's path was 500 feet wide and a mile long.

The homes of Robert Moffit, Cleora Hornby and others were wrecked from foundations and the sleeping people forced out into the fury of the hail and rain storm.

Moffit's barn was torn to pieces and strewn over a wheat field. Cows, horses and hogs were killed by the flying wreckage. Barns on the Eakins, Moffit and Greer farms were turned over and livestock killed.

Kentucky Storm Swept.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 24.—Storm and flood conditions throughout Kentucky and especially in Louisville and vicinity, yesterday in many instances caused a suspension of business, an interruption to transportation by rail routes, much damage to property, and has caused people to flee for their lives.

Rain fell in torrents over a territory extending from Central Indiana south through Kentucky and into Tennessee and central Georgia, but the storm was the severest in the Bluegrass state.

One death, attributed to the storm, occurred in Louisville, when Benjamin Keith, a lad of 11, hurrying home from school in the blinding rain, was struck by a street car and his head severed from his body. Otto Reiser, a grocer, and his negro helper were injured by the caving in of a sewer under the weight of their horse. A horse was drowned in the underpass of the Illinois Central at Eleventh and Oak streets, and several more were swept away and lost in the flooded creeks near Fisherville, 12 miles out.

The rain fell steadily all night and most of the day, the precipitation being close to four inches in less than 24 hours. Street car traffic in Louisville suffered severely. It was stated this evening by the officials of the Louisville Street Railway Company, that both lines to Ingo's park were out of commission and would probably remain so for another day. The water is more than a foot deep at the entrance to Churchill Downs, and many stables on the famous course are flooded.

Landslide Delays Trains.

A landslide on the main line of the Henderson route, near West Point, has delayed traffic on that road between Louisville and St. Louis, the washing away of a trestle on the Southern's Lexington branch, near Fisherville, has delayed all trains, while high water near Hardinburg has put a small branch of the Henderson system out of commission.

The Kentucky river, swollen by heavy rains in the mountains, was pouring a volume of water past Frankfort, which is expected to increase the rise in the Ohio when it strikes that stream at Carrollton. Many bridges in central Kentucky have been carried away and much livestock lost.

In southern Indiana all streams are rising and the Ohio is above the flood stage at Evansville. Near Carmi, Ill., a big four freight went into a washout, a brakeman being killed and the conductor injured.

Warnings have been issued by the weather bureau in Cincinnati to people living along the various tributaries of the Ohio river to be prepared for sudden rises in these streams as a result of heavy rains.

Conservation Conference Ends.

Washington, Feb. 24.—With the adoption of a declaration of principles designed to govern the United States Canada and Mexico with regard to the disposition of the natural resources of these countries, the North American conservation conference concluded its work here yesterday. The declaration of principles may not be made public until Thursday.

FORAKER WAR IS NOW ENDED

Senate Action Closes the Brownsville Incident.

COMPROMISE BILL IS PASSED

Ohio Senator Partially Victorious in Fight for Negro Soldiers—Roosevelt's African Trip Will Cost United States Nothing Mann Declares.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Foraker's fight against President Roosevelt in connection with the Brownsville incident is a closed matter so far as the senate is concerned. In a bill passed yesterday the president is authorized to appoint a court of inquiry to determine the qualifications for re-enlistment of the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry for whom the Ohio senator has waged a relentless war.

The Adair bill for this purpose was passed by a party vote of 56 to 26, except that Senator Teller voted with the Republicans for the passage of the bill. The bill is a compromise measure approved by President Roosevelt, Senator Foraker and all of the Republican members of the committee on military affairs.

The court of inquiry will act as a board to consider applications for re-enlistment and recommend the restoration to duty of such soldiers who are not found guilty of complicity in the affray.

The senate also passed the fortification bill, with appropriations aggregating $3,320,111, and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, carrying $3,644,326.

Query About African Trip.

The coming hunting trip of President Roosevelt to Africa was brought up during the consideration of the sundry civil bill in the house. Mr. Garrett of Tennessee wanted to know how much of the expense of that expedition was to be paid by the government.

Mr. Mann of Illinois volunteered to answer that no public moneys were to be used. He said that there was nothing in connection with the proposed trip that could be criticized.

The fact that there remains an unpaid balance of $225,000 of the $350,000 fund appropriated last year for the enforcement of the interstate commerce laws stirred Mr. Fitzgerald of New York to a defense of the proposal by the committee last year to appropriate only $50,000. At that time, said Mr. Fitzgerald, President Roosevelt characterized the proposition as a sham and said that it would be better to repeal the law.

As a result of this criticism by the president, Mr. Fitzgerald declared that it was universally believed that the committee on appropriations was not anxious to have the law enforced. He declared that the wisdom of the committee had been proved. Defending the interstate commerce commission, which had asked for the larger appropriation, Mr. Townsend of Michigan said the money would be expended after certain plans, now under way, had been formulated.

Mann Objects to "Sham."

Mr. Mann of Illinois objected to the president's characterizing an appropriation of $50,000 as a sham, and he said that events of the last several months had shown that the committee on appropriations knew more about what they were doing than did the president.

Not Cocaine

Never before in the history of medicine has it been possible to extract teeth so painlessly as I am doing right now in Janesville.

Not that I take any credit as to discovery but simply that I have at last secured

The method which gets results.

I hear this name story frequently from children, faint-hearted or strong minded men and women.

"Dr., you never hurt me a bit."

Nobody in Janesville knows what this agent is and I don't propose to tell them, only to emphatically say that it is "Not Cocaine or any derivative of Cocaine."

Let me demonstrate.

CARE-TAKERS OF THE DETENTION HOSPITAL SICK

Mr. and Mrs. John Payne Are Both Afflicted with Smallpox—Vaccination Failed to Work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Payne, caretakers of the detention hospital, are both afflicted with smallpox, and the Salvation Army has been conveying some of the supplies and necessities to the doors of that institution. Serious illness, the Syrian rug merchant, was the last patient there and he was released from quarantine last Thursday. Charles Russell of Albany, a colored man, was allowed to go a few days before. Mrs. Jennie Payne was stricken about a fortnight ago and has nearly recovered. Her husband was taken ill last Thursday and is very sick, though his condition is not considered dangerous. Mr. and Mrs. Payne were both vaccinated when they were children and again when they took charge of the hospital. In the latter instance, however, the virus in each case failed to take effect.

Plantation Coffee

Every family in Janesville should know about this coffee, because it is a much finer piece of goods than is usually sold for the price.

Possibly you have a flavor in coffee that you like, but there isn't enough of it in the coffee you usually get at this price.

Perhaps it is strong enough and the flavor is right but it doesn't take the cream right—looks pale and disappointing. That's because the proper coffee of the proper age was not used in its blending.

Plantation Coffee takes the cream right—leaves it a rich deep appetizing color that speaks for itself. It has the full delicious flavor so hard to get and plenty of it.

Don't hesitate about trying Plantation Coffee. You will wonder how we can give such value. 25c lb.

TO THE VOTERS OF JANESVILLE

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Mayor of this city on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held March 23, 1900. There have been some rumors on the street that am the candidate of the Electric Light Co. of this city. I frankly admit I have a brother that has an interest in that corporation, but if I had followed that brother's advice, I would not at this time, be an alderman of this city, and most emphatically would not now be a candidate for the office of Mayor. He claims that the candidate that wins at an election is the one that loses in the end. For myself I simply wish to say, that I am not a candidate in the interest of any single individual, faction, clique or corporation. That I am not under any political pledge or promise of any kind, either expressed or implied. Should fortune favor me and I receive the election, I feel that I must be the Mayor in the interests of the city at large, with no string attached. By this I do not mean I would not need counsel and advice—would be thankful for it, reserving to myself the right to digest the same, as best I can, and find out what part is for selfish interest and that really meant for the public good, then act accordingly.

W. F. CARLIS.

SHERBURN M. BECKER, WHO WILL LECTURE AT MYERS THEATRE

The attraction that opened the theatrical season of 1909 in New York City so sensationally, George Arliss in play, but it is only fair to state that "The Devil" will be seen at Myers Theatre Tuesday, March 2.

GEORGE ARLISS AS "THE DEVIL," MYERS THEATRE, MARCH 20

supported contracts by three months, and that "The Devil" as presented by Mr. George Arliss, is the only version of the remarkable Melmor comedy that is taken directly from the original Hungarian text. As to the merits of the two versions and productions, the public long ago gave the victor's laurels to Mr. Arliss, who outlived all his rivals in New York by nearly three months. Mr. Arliss "The Devil" has been called the finest piece of acting the modern New York stage has produced. Mr. George Arliss attracted unusual attention when he came to this country in 1907 with Mrs. Patrick Campbell, who won still greater honors as the Hungarian villain in "The Darling of the Gods," and later in the support of Mrs. Plake. Mr. Arliss was under contract to appear as a star under Mr. Plake's management when Melmor's play was brought to Mr. Plake's attention. Mr. Plake saw in it at once the remarkable opportunity for the new star; that these opportunities have been more than realized is evident by the sensational success of the play. For it is essentially a one-man play, requiring extraordinary technique and a command of technique such as is given to few. In a night, Mr. Arliss was the most talked of actor in America.

The country has been flooded with imitations and bad versions of this remarkable play, for it is unfortunately unprotected by copyright. The version owned by Mr. Plake, however, is taken directly from the Hungarian, and is the only one that deserves the epithet of the original. This version, which is the work of Alexander Kenta and William T. Larned is fully protected against infringement. When the sensation caused by "The Devil" was at its height, Mr. Plake was besieged by various managers with requests for duplicates of the original production. Mr. Plake, however, realizing that the phenomenal success of the play was due very largely to the individual work of Mr. Arliss, refused to impose upon the public by any attempt to reproduce the original production, promising at the end of the New York season to send Mr. Arliss through the country on a brief tour to the larger cities. Mr. Plake is fulfilling his promise.

The company and the production that will be seen in this city is the original one rehearsed in secret and suddenly appearing at Belasco's theatre in New York with only 36 hours' warning. It is staged under the personal direction of Mr. Plake, with that regard for detail which has made his work as a producer notable among the best achievements on the American stage.

The company includes Grace Gillott, Mrs. George Arliss, Marion Luckert, Hamilton Revelle, H. W. Dudd and J. Palmer Collins.

A quite unusual attraction is promised at the Myers Theatre Saturday, Feb. 27 and Sunday, Feb. 28, when Sherburn M. Becker, the famous "Boy Mayor" of Milwaukee, who has achieved a national reputation as a public speaker, will deliver his two-hour illustrated story on the Italian earthquake. Mr. Becker's name alone signifies, in itself, a something unusual since his record is one which presupposes the unusual.

Ever since this young man left college his career has been one of at least excellent success. Among other things he has twice circled the globe, he has broken broncos and "roped" on the western plains; he has always been prominent as a yachtsman and athlete, and recently raced an automobile from Chicago to New York. He has a series of lectures on his explorations and travels abroad, and when, later in life, he took up politics in his home city, he readily rose from newspaper to alderman, and then to mayor, at the age of thirty.

Strenuous, even in his pastimes, he at once instituted an anti-graft campaign which resulted disastrously to all those who opposed him, and he single-handedly fought his city officials and employees, many of them of considerable prominence.

With the same energy that has characterized everything he has taken up, Mr. Becker, as soon as the news of the Italian disaster reached this country, began the work of compiling his two-hour story. His colored views, more than 100 in number, of the stricken cities, were the first to reach this country.

In the meantime he had selected from his own collection views of the five cities and the surrounding country before the earthquake.

These are supplemented with moving pictures taken on the spot and showing the work of rescues among the ruins, and with other motion pictures showing the arrival, in the Straits of Messina, of the American battleship fleet.

His personal knowledge of the people and the country gained through three years' residence abroad, added a personal note to the narrative, which is further embellished with special music.

The whole combines to form an exceedingly vivid dramatic story of a tremendously large topic, and is said to be one of the most successful things the young man has ever done.

FORTY YEARS AGO

January 25, 1869.—Phrenology at the Jail.—A gentleman who has faith in "humor" recently visited the jail and made a chart of the heads of some of the prominent inmates of that institution. He reports that two of the prisoners confined for the most flagrant offenses made the best exhibit as to well-balanced heads. So far as one of them, at least, is concerned, we fear the science is somewhat at fault, for however good a chart he may make he is evidently not a pet lamb.

The Skating Match.—The skaters' contest for the champion medals of the city, offered by the citizens of this place, took place last evening at the rink and was attended by a large concourse of spectators, whose appreciation was continually manifested by loud and boisterous applause, notwithstanding the earnest protest of Judge Comstock, who insisted that such demonstrations should not be indulged in. It is doubtless embarrassing to amateurs in their first public efforts, to be the recipients of such unrestrained enthusiasm and tends to frustrate their best endeavors, particularly in exhibitions of this nature, where coolness and nerve are indispensable. The following ladies and gentlemen entered for the match: Miss Emma Lappin, Miss Ella White, Miss Carrie Brown, Mr. J. White, Mr. D. H. Comstock, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Ed. M. Smith, Mr. R. Royce, and Mr. Frank Lawrence. The program of the American Skating Congress was adopted as the test, consisting of every conceivable difficult move on ice, and was taken separately by each contestant, the ice having been given up for their exclusive use during the whole evening. The ladies first took the ice, and went through the greater part of the program in a creditable manner. Indeed to us, it seemed a difficult choice, but the judges, who scored each movement, awarded the prize, a gold medal, to Miss Emma Lappin. The gentlemen's trial was more hurried than that of the ladies as there were several more competitors and it was already growing late; Mr. Ed. M. Smith carried off the prize, a silver medal. The following is the footing of the score: Ladies—Miss Lappin, 39½; Miss Brown, 38; Miss Lappin, 37½; Gentleman—Smith, 44½; Royce, 44½; Lewis, 41; White, 40½; Lawrence, 41. Judges—J. Doolittle, J. K. Benson. Referee—Charles Jenkins.

Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it? If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Paterson, N. J.—"But for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive today for I was a miserable sufferer for four or five years. The doctors said it was Change of Life and I suffered untold agonies. I had read that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for female troubles so I started to take it. I found great relief at once, and to-day I am a well woman. I thank Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it, and gladly recommend it to any woman suffering from Change of Life or female troubles."—Mrs. Wm. Somerville, 125 Hamburg Ave., Paterson, N. J.

Melbourne, Ia.—"I am thankful for the great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I suffered many years from chronic inflammation and bearing down pains and it was unable to do my work. Vegetable Compound restored me to health after all other means had failed, and to-day I am a living advertisement for it."—Mrs. Clara Waterman, R. D. No. 1, Melbourne, Iowa.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

THE LAST VOYAGE OF THE DONNA ISABEL

BY RANDALL DARRISH

ILLUSTRATIONS BY DEARBORN MELVILL

I must confess, however, whether I liked the little attention upon either, for my eyes were fixed upon the younger woman seated between the two, and hence directly confronting me, I will not say I never saw a fairer or prettier womanhood just when the lovely flower blossomed a blossom fully blown, yet assuredly none other ever possessed for me the same ineffable fascination, the same ineffable charm. Twenty-two, possibly, although her age was difficult to guess, with oval face and clear, fresh skin, the rich, red blood of perfect health crimsoning the rounded cheeks, eyes of deepest, darkest gray, the kind of eyes, pledging a thoughtful soul behind to yield them such rare power of expression; a face reflecting the joy of living, yet responsive, and, in moments of quietness, suddenly beyond its years; an entrancing dimple visible in the rather broad chin; the lips moist and racy with health, sufficiently parted to reveal a tantalizing glimpse of white, regular teeth behind; the forehead low and broad, the wealth of shadowing hair of darkest brown, yet with an odd gleam of reddish gold causing the gathered masses to seem an aureole of beauty. But it was not the outward face alone, nor any combination of pleasing features, which yielded such rare and indefinable charm—it was rather a distinct and unusual personality which gave to these both life and attractiveness. Her slightest glance or movement, natural and unforced, seemed a new revelation of self, the outer expression of a secret inward life which instinctively longed to penetrate, the guarded mystery of which was invitation.

The three conversed little, speaking English with that lack of restraint common to those who have been accustomed to having discreet servants behind their chairs, the man grumbling lily over the quality of food furnished and the indifferent service, my lady commenting with audible distinctness on the personal appearance of the various people present, the girl contenting herself with an occasional monosyllable when directly addressed.

CHAPTER II.

In Which I Meet His Lordship. Chilean officers, largely naval, to judge from their rather resplendent uniforms, occupied this second table, and it was evident that they had been drinking to excess. It was their loud voices and boisterous laughter which first attracted my attention, and I soon caught sufficient of their incoherent speech to discover they were uttering one among their number.

Taft Issues Statement Saying Former Ohio Governor Doesn't Want Treasury Job.

New York, Feb. 24.—In a statement issued yesterday President-elect Taft says Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio will not be secretary of the treasury in the new cabinet. The statement is:

"At the invitation of the President-elect, Gov. Herrick called on Mr. Taft today. Mr. Taft authorized the statement that the mention of Mr. Herrick for the portfolio of the treasury, as if he had been a candidate, did him great injustice, because Mr. Herrick wrote Mr. Taft, as early as December last to say that he had no business engagements which would prevent his acceptance of a place in the cabinet."

Mr. Herrick, when questioned, said that he had nothing to add to this statement, which was made for the purpose of making the record complete.

The elimination of Mr. Herrick at his own request would seem to put Franklin McVeagh of Chicago in the lead for the place, but the only light Mr. Taft would throw on the situation last night was that it would be several days yet before the matter would be settled.

Mr. Taft's entry into New York, where he arrived from Philadelphia yesterday, was apparently without ostentation. He entered a closed automobile at the Jersey City ferry and did not leave it until he alighted at the Forty-eighth street residence of his brother, Henry W. Taft, whose house guests he is to be until Saturday, when he will leave for Washington. Mr. Taft remained in Philadelphia.

Mr. Taft at first expected to be called on here by Senator Knox, but a later decision is that the senator will remain in Washington.

To address a meeting in the interest of Hampton Institute at Carnegie hall, which he did last night, and to attend Friday night the dinner to be given in honor of William Root, are the purposes of Mr. Taft's visit to New York. He will take advantage of the time between the two engagements to finish two or three magazine articles he has agreed to write, saying he can obtain more seclusion here than he could in Washington.

In speaking on the negro question, Mr. Taft said the country has the problem on its hands and it must be solved. He said a race feeling does exist and it is a part of the problem. No unprejudiced person, Mr. Taft said, could read the statistics of the negro race in the past 50 years and not feel convinced that a solution was to follow.

"Why," he declared, "a race that can produce Booker Washington in a century ought to feel confident that it can do miracles in time."

FIVE INDIANA COUNTIES DRY.

Vote Puts 143 Saloons Out of Business in Hoosier State.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 24.—Five Indiana counties, that held local option elections yesterday, voted dry. They are Grant, Howard, Daviess, Adams and Newton. It is possible that the "wet" won in the cities of Kokomo and Marion, but the majorities against saloons in the out-towns were sufficient to control the situation. One hundred and forty-three saloons are put out of business.

Arrest Alleged Confidence Men. Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 24.—Sheriff Roberts and posse, together with Postal Inspector Swanson, yesterday arrested three men giving the names of J. G. Mabry, F. M. Clark and I. J. Warner, who are alleged to be leaders of a swindling gang which operated in Council Bluffs, New Orleans and other cities, obtaining a large sum of money on fake foot races, wrestling matches and horse races.

The elimination of Mr. Herrick at his own request would seem to put Franklin McVeagh of Chicago in the lead for the place, but the only light Mr. Taft would throw on the situation last night was that it would be several days yet before the matter would be settled.

Mr. Taft's entry into New York, where he arrived from Philadelphia yesterday, was apparently without ostentation. He entered a closed automobile at the Jersey City ferry and did not leave it until he alighted at the Forty-eighth street residence of his brother, Henry W. Taft, whose house guests he is to be until Saturday, when he will leave for Washington. Mr. Taft remained in Philadelphia.

Mr. Taft at first expected to be called on here by Senator Knox, but a later decision is that the senator will remain in Washington.

To address a meeting in the interest of Hampton Institute at Carnegie hall, which he did last night, and to attend Friday night the dinner to be given in honor of William Root, are the purposes of Mr. Taft's visit to New York. He will take advantage of the time between the two engagements to finish two or three magazine articles he has agreed to write, saying he can obtain more seclusion here than he could in Washington.

In speaking on the negro question, Mr. Taft said the country has the problem on its hands and it must be solved. He said a race feeling does exist and it is a part of the problem. No unprejudiced person, Mr. Taft said, could read the statistics of the negro race in the past 50 years and not feel convinced that a solution was to follow.

"Why," he declared, "a race that can produce Booker Washington in a century ought to feel confident that it can do miracles in time."

AMERICAN SCHOOLBOYS

"SISSEY" SAYS TEACHER

Dr. O'Shea of Wisconsin University Favors Whippings Rather Than Sermons for Lads.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—American schoolboys are "sissies" and ought to be spanked. If a boy is bad don't land him a sermonette to make him good. That is the opinion of Dr. O'Shea of Wisconsin University.

This is the opinion of Dr. M. V. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin, offered at the dinner given by the Illinois Congress of Mothers at the Union League club last night. The dinner was complimentary to the advisory board of the organization and national educators who are in the city attending the National Educational association meeting.

"There is at present too much refinement in the public schools of the country," said Dr. O'Shea. "The boys are spoiled for the lack of something rough. The American boy should have correction and not so much pampering. Sentiment should not dominate judgment."

"A boy ought to be made to do things because he knows there is force behind the command. The boy needs to be made to bow before the strength that comes from sheer muscularity."

"There is far too much delicacy in the present method of treating the bad boy in the public school. The best thing that can be done is to thrash him."

"The children, both boys and girls, should not be allowed to take on the airs of their elders as early in life as they do. It is wrong for these children to go to balls in the carriages of their boy friends here."

Other addresses delivered before the congress were by Dr. Ben H. Howell, superintendent of school at St. Louis, who spoke on "The American Father" and Francis Blair, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois, who chose the subject, "The House, the School and the Boy."

SPRINGFIELD VOTE CLOSE.

Mayorality Contest in Republican Primary is Near a Tie.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 24.—In a primary election almost sensational in interest, throughout the city, former Mayor Lawrence E. Sherman was nominated Republican candidate for mayor over Mayor Roy L. Reese, by less than a dozen votes, according to unofficial but carefully compiled figures.

A total vote of 10,000 was cast, of which Sherman received 3,100, and Reese 3,000. Mayor Reese to-night emphatically denies that he has conceded Sherman's nomination. That a contest will result is all agreed.

Late last night, Mayor Reese claimed the vote for the Republican majority nomination is a tie. Crowds are gathered about the city streets eagerly watching returns, all of which indicate Sherman's victory by only a very few votes.

Sherman removed from Macomb to Springfield two years ago, and has just retired from the state office of lieutenant governor. He is running for mayor on a strict law-enforcement platform.

MILLIONAIRE WEDS LAUNDRESS.

Banker Getzelman of Elgin Becomes His Washerwoman's Husband.

Elgin, Ill., Feb. 24.—The simple words of the marriage ceremony, said in Elgin yesterday, transformed a washerwoman into a mistress of a fortune.

When Rev. A. J. Doolger of the Evangelical church had pronounced Mr. C. Getzelman, millionaire, and Mrs. Hulda Dohler, his washerwoman, man and wife, the bride knew not only that she was through forever with the back-breaking rubbing of clothes over a washboard, but also that she was the equal, financially and socially, of any of the wealthy matrons for whom she had formerly laundered clothes.

Two years ago Mrs. Dohler was engaged by Mrs. Getzelman, who died a year ago, to do the family washing, and through this means the romance developed.

Mr. Getzelman is president of three banks—the Elgin National bank, the St. Charles National bank and the Algonquin National bank.
